

1.4.2 - Does your university as a body provide financial assistance to the local community assisting the start-up of financially and socially sustainable businesses?

Through activities within the budget set aside by the university to promote economic and social initiatives, Imam Ja'afar Al-Sadiq University offers financial support to the nearby communities. But Imam Ja'afar Al-Sadiq University doesn't give the neighborhood's inhabitants any direct financial assistance. Instead, the university makes use of the funding to organize partnerships with the local community, as well as to research the resources and growth prospects that are already present there. The University's role in operations includes offering a development strategy, funding, resources, tools, and in-depth expertise while collaborating with members of the neighborhood. Helping local communities become self-sufficient in sustainable living is the ultimate objective.

