

17.4.1 - Does your university as a body have a commitment to meaningful education around the SDGs across the university, that is relevant and applicable to all students?

Imam Ja'afar Al-Sadiq University is dedicated to giving its students a great education, opportunities for life - long learning, and distinctive campus experiences since it works to improve the future while preserving history and culture. It is committed to producing talented leaders who give back to their communities and humankind, leaders who bridge the gap between local and global affairs.

Imam Ja'afar Al-Sadiq University focuses on achieving excellence at the highest levels of quality and professionalism through the application of institutional and program accreditation standards in the university and its formations. Some of the plans and programs followed by the university in the process of developing teaching and learning are as follows:

1. Raising the level of knowledge at the university to international levels and encouraging scientific research in all its fields.
2. Improving the advanced infrastructure of the university to provide an appropriate educational environment to enable its teachers, students and researchers to provide the best scientific levels.
3. Improving the educational environment by making it enjoyable and free from causing anxiety for students, and this is done by enriching cultural and sports activities and encouraging club activities.
4. Establishing reciprocal relations with scientific institutions at the national and international levels in order to obtain knowledge and experience.
5. Conducting continuous reviews and updates of the university education curriculum, to keep abreast of developments, especially in information and communication technology. The university aims to develop academic programs to meet the needs of society in the aspects of sustainable development, which aims to provide graduates with knowledge, skills and competencies that qualify them to contribute to achieving sustainable development goals.

6. The university adopts a training project for teaching members in order to deal with e-learning, according to their specializations and academic courses.
7. Developing the academic and professional performance of faculty members: by holding many workshops and scientific seminars on how to use the best and most modern educational means in the world.
8. Improving the quality of programs, courses and resources: Designing programs, courses and electronic educational materials on the basis of acceptable international standards, and in accurate details that keep pace with international standards in education.
9. Developing research centers at the university in accordance with the work of international research centers.
10. Preparing special programs to qualify new graduates to enter the labor market and production. Imam Ja'afar AL-Sadiq University works on preparing graduates who have the knowledge, experience and skills necessary to enter the labor market in all fields.
