

2.3.4 - Does your university as a body provide healthy and affordable food choices for all on campus?

Imam Ja'afar Al-Sadiq University is devoted to providing staff and students with enough and a variety of meals in the cafeterias at a reasonable price. The cafeterias undertake promotional events that are widely accepted by instructors and students in addition to making sure that nutritious, healthful, and safely handled foods are served in a clean setting. The following are the cafeteria supervision procedures:

1. There must be affordable food available in the student cafeterias. It must be easy for staff and students to read the unit pricing.
2. The caterer will be informed if the inspections find excessively high prices. So when contract comes up for renewal, this issue will be taken into account if there is no improvement.
3. The management team and the food management committee consult before deciding on the pricing of various dishes.
